

Van Meter & Associates, Inc.

Simplification of Performance Evaluations
Sworn to Honor Management
Live In Person Online Training

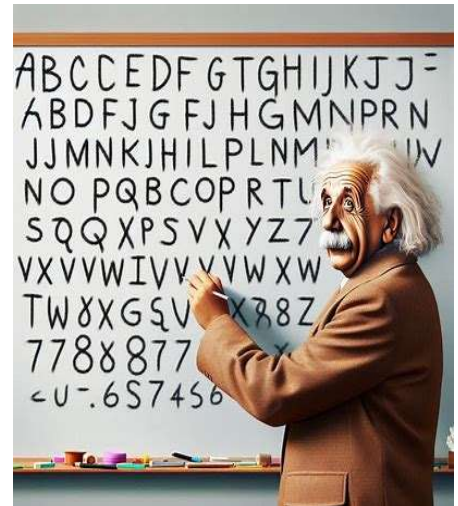

1:00pm-4:00pm January 16, 2025 EST

Why You Should Attend: If you believe that the time and costs associated with fixing problems caused by mis-performance and non-performance are the pain-points in your agency this course is designed for you and your agency.

This course takes a different approach. It emphasizes all performance (whether good or poor) are objectively measured outcomes of employees' conduct and behavior. While a reasonable amount of time and cost is invested in the production of performance, that simplest and most practical way to control that cost start with a system that provides objective measures of:

1. Performance,
2. Misperformance,
3. Non-performance costs

In addition to knowing more about objective performance measures, measurements, and outcomes, you will receive model forms and a policy for implementing this system in your agency. Class handouts and certificates.

Measure Performance not Performance
